

POPULAR SHOW COMES TO END

Horse Lovers Enjoy Another Interesting Evening at the Willows

With the judges' decision of last night at the annual horse show at the Willows Exhibition several fine strings of ribbons were completed for winners coming from several points on the island, from Vancouver, and in the heavy draft-horse classes from as far away as Albany and Portland, Oregon.

In the saddle horse classes the big event of the evening was the Grafton broad jump, sponsored by Scott & Peden, Victoria. This came at the very end of the programme, and the brilliant performances of one or two of the entries brought a number of applause from the spectators, the jump consisting, even before extension, of two feet of timber with brush, and a twelve-foot limitation water hazard on the far side.

Another class which aroused some excitement was the polo ponies. Although the game is practically never seen in Victoria now, there were obviously many people in the galleries familiar with the fine points, and speculation as to the outcome of the judging filled the intermission between performance and results with lively interest.

DRAFT HORSES

The heavy draft horses have been a conspicuously popular feature each evening, although their appearance last night was solely for the purpose of exhibiting their driving skill. There seemed very little to choose between them, as in each instance the teams were amazingly well handled and controlled so well that the six horses had practically the same mobility as if they had been a single pair.

Mrs. L. Levesque, Montreal, Que., equally good, and Mrs. J. Levesque, Seattle, B.C., also did well. No harmful drugs, 30c and 15c everywhere.

LUMBAGO? Lame Back? Neuralgia?

"T-R-C's are the only thing for me. I was in such pain from Lumbago I didn't see how I could get up. I took T-R-C's. In 20 minutes the pain had gone. I was able to do a big day's washing and ironing." Mrs. L. Levesque, Montreal, Que. Equally good, and Mrs. J. Levesque, Seattle, B.C., also did well. No harmful drugs, 30c and 15c everywhere.

EMPIRE HOPES JUSTIFIED IN NEW TREATIES

In any movement designed for the good of the Dominion.

VERY POPULAR
This political action is characterized by the man, there is nothing small about Gordon Coates, who is familiarly known to everyone in New Zealand. Born in the country, he had an early training that inured him to hardship and developed him both mentally and physically. He is told of how, as a mere boy, he was thirteen or fourteen, he drove cattle over long distances to shipping points.

When the war broke out he was among the first to enlist, with rank of lieutenant. He fought through the Gallipoli and French campaigns, winning his majority on the field, as well as the Military Cross with honor.

There was no more popular officer in the New Zealand forces than Major Coates. He was dolized by his men.

HELPED SOLDIERS
The strong attachment of the soldiers to him was due to his own example. He had just taken a letter from an old soldier who rejoiced in the name of "Sparkie." Sparkie was in the name of the New Zealand force, through his efforts Sparkie's term was shortened, and work was found for him.

Sparkie only got into difficulties again, and the next time his request was pencilled on a scrap of paper. It read: "Dear Gordon—The pen is mightier than the sword. Send me a fountain pen. Your old pal, Sparkie."

Sparkie got his fountain pen by Mr. Coates and his charming wife have visited Victoria before in passing through to New Zealand. He is a strong advocate of closer relationship between Canada and New Zealand, and is anxious to develop not only a greater volume of trade between the two Dominions, but to encourage the tourist traffic across the Pacific.

CALLS ON CANADA TO GIVE SUPPORT TO EMPIRE TRADE

"We are a family," declared the Prime Minister, "and we seek greater markets within the family. That is no unneighborly purpose. Our purpose was merely to secure benefits for members of the family in no spirit of antagonism to others but in the spirit of love and sympathy from every branch of the family."

"We have reached the low point of this depression," explained Mr. Bennett, raising his voice. He saw definite signs of improvement. "Prosperity is sure to come and it comes by the exertions of Canadians who make possible an exhibition such as this. It predicted a greater prosperity than ever known before."

LANDMARK IN HISTORY
You will look back upon this day as a landmark in history," he concluded, "a day of joy and thankfulness for the Empire to which we belong and the country in which we live."

Gathered around the Prime Minister on the main band stand of the exhibition grounds were business and political representatives of the whole Dominion, including Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals; Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce; Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to London; Premier John Bracken of Manitoba; Premier G. S. Henry of Ontario; Hon. Sir William Mulock, Administrator and Chief Justice of Ontario; Hon. Newton W. Rowell, K.C.; Senator Arthur Meighen, K.C.; and William Inglis, president of the Canadian National Exhibition.

SPEAKS AT LUNCHEON
Speaking at a directors' luncheon, Prime Minister Bennett congratulated the exhibition on its progress through "difficult times."

He also complimented the city of Toronto on its contribution to national life, remarking that he wondered what Canada would be like if Toronto were removed.

With signs of improvement on every hand, Mr. Bennett expressed the belief that the country had learned many valuable lessons from a period of depression. It had learned particularly that "speculative values do not make prosperity."

Presenting a gold medal to the Prime Minister on behalf of the exhibition, Sir William Mulock said that if one man had served his country well, that man was present.

"You notice I put that in guarded form," he added jocularly.

In reply, Mr. Bennett said, "I thank you, Sir William, for the felicitous terms in which you have expressed your political faith."

The vice-president's list caused by the death of David Spencer. The new vice-presidents are: A. D. Patterson, of Ladner, first vice-president; H. Webb, Chiswick, second vice-president; H. A. Leigh, Victoria, third vice-president; Mrs. E. W. Darcus, Gordon Head, fourth vice-president, and Thomas Walker, fifth vice-president.

George Sangster and David Nichol were elected to the two executive committee vacancies. In the case of George Sangster, it was another re-election. Mr. Sangster has served with the association for a great number of years.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales and His Honor Lieutenant-Governor W. Fordham Johnson will be asked to act as patrons, while Premier S. F. Tolmie and Hon. Robert Weir M.P., Minister of Agriculture, will be invited to accept the posts of honorary presidents.

Election of the advisory board, consisting of forty members, was postponed until the adjourned meeting, to be held six months hence.

TRIBUTE PAID
Before the meeting was called to order, tribute was paid to the late David Spencer, who, as first vice-president, had served the association well, and had shown leadership in the affairs of the exhibition.

E. M. Whyte, president for the past two years, thanked all those connected with the Fair for their wholehearted support and co-operation, and expressed the view that this year's Fair had been quite outstanding in view of the present economic situation.

Alderman H. C. Litchfield proposed a motion that the executive consider a new system of election of officers so that the present system could be improved. His resolution was adopted unanimously.

T. A. Cresswell brought up the question of judging thoroughbred race horses at the show and asked why this class had been deleted this year. He was answered by the secretary, who informed him that the same practice was being followed in Vancouver, Calgary and Regina, and that state breeds were being included on the instructions of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

SYSTEMATIC CAMPAIGN TO MARKET B.C. TIMBER IS BEING CONSIDERED
Possibilities, Hon. Mr. Lougheed is also making a close study of the markets. The situation in China, particularly offers possibilities of increased trade. The subsidy recently granted by the Dominion Government on lumber cargoes to the market will greatly assist in the creation of trade.

China is in need of lumber. There are 85,000 houses to be erected in the Shanghai area alone. The Manchurian situation has resulted in a cutting off of that territory as a source of immediate lumber supply, while the difficulty between Japan and Japan has curtailed the large volume of purchases of lumber from Japan by China from the Island Kingdom.

British Columbia is largely dependent for her prosperity on lumber. Lumbering is the chief industry of the province. Realizing this fully and appreciating the every effort must be made to popularize the British Columbia product as those of the Empire, a systematic campaign to promote sales will probably be undertaken.

The minister will confer with leaders of the industry upon the return from Ottawa of the lumber trade delegation that attended the Imperial Conference, and it is expected that the definite steps will be undertaken to go out after business.

UNIVERSITY LOSSES ARE TREMENDOUS

Auditors' examination of the university fund has disclosed that the Rockefeller fund came as a stunning blow to members of the medical faculty, but hopes were expressed there might be some chance of restoration. They did not suggest by what method.

Each year the university received from the Rockefeller fund a cheque for the interest on the endowment funds, paid into its current revenue account. The interest received last year was $26,000, a sum of considerable importance to the university.

FRENCH PAIR DEFEATED IN U.S. DOUBLES

Cochet and Bernard Lose to Vines and Gledhill After Lengthy Match
WILL MEET VAN RYN AND ALLISON TODAY

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 26 (AP)—Another French attack on the United States doubles championship was repelled today when Henri Cochet renewed his court feud with Vines, the semi-American champion, in a semi-final battle at Longwood. Vines teamed with Keith Gledhill and defeated Cochet and his eighteen-year-old partner, Marcel Bernard, 16-14, 3-6, 4-6, 9-7, 6-2.

As far as major league tennis was concerned, it was a sloppy uphill battle against their own mistakes, as well as the Frenchmen, for a place in the title round.

Tomorrow Vines and Gledhill will engage the defending champions, David Cup stars, Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn. This team qualified yesterday against George Lott and Frank Shields.

Cochet crossed the ocean to wipe out the defeat Vines gave him in the recent Davis Cup struggle. The famous Frenchman was not in his usual form when he faced his outstanding rival for the first time in this country. Vines was worse, however, but his lapses were more than evened by Gledhill, who whipped over a total of forty-three place-ments as he held his errors down to sixty-seven during the five sets.

VINES ERRATIC
Vines had thirty-nine earned points, including fourteen service aces, but he piled up eighty-one mistakes, of which four were double faults. Cochet managed to score twenty-seven placements, mostly with drop shots, and had sixty-five errors. Young Bernard's record for the match was seventy-one errors and twenty-nine earned points.

Neither team was able to make any consistent return of service and there were fourteen breaks during the match. Bernard was cracked six times, Gledhill four times and Cochet and Vines twice each. Bernard's inability to hold his delivery in the fourth and fifth sets cost the Frenchmen the match. The American team, which appeared headed for a straight set victory after it clinched the fifty-eight-minute opener, was slowed down to a walk when Vines lost his aim on the second and third sets.

During the dramatic struggle, Vines' overhead game faltered. Gledhill took control of his backhand for a time and the French were helpless when given a belated fast-ball tie.

The three national team quests were reduced to the final bracket during the day. Tomorrow Helen Jacobs will try for a grand slam. She holds the national singles crown, half of the women's doubles title and will play with Vines for the mixed title against Sarah Palfrey, Brookline, and Frederick W. Perry, of England.

Premier Commends Breeder for Loyal Support Given Fair

Deprecates Movement to Eliminate Smaller Shows —Gives Message of Encouragement to Livestock Men—Mayor Leeming Is Gratified

"THE present economic situation has made the success of this year's show even more outstanding than those of normal years. This is no time for panic; no time to suggest wiping out fairs, or even eliminating the smaller ones. This exhibition has proved what can be done in the face of adversity, and I am, indeed, proud of the fine showing that has been made. It stands as a tribute to the managers of the fair and to the sportsmanship shown by both local and outside breeders, who have so ably supported the exhibition."

Thus did Premier S. F. Tolmie express his satisfaction with this year's exhibition at the Willows when addressing the annual gathering of the stock breeders.

He opened his remarks by stating that the managers of the association owed a debt of gratitude to the exhibitors who had stayed with them in such bad times as these.

"They have given you that support that has made the show so outstanding a success not only this year but in past years," the Premier said. The Premier said it was unfortunate that the economic situation had forced upon the Government the necessity of reducing all grants this year. The grant to this exhibition had not been reduced due to a lack of appreciation of the enterprise, but merely as part of a programme of economy whereby the budget might be balanced. He expressed the hope that as conditions improved the grants would increase correspondingly.

RECALLS PAST
He deprecated the movement afoot to eliminate the smaller fairs. They were a valuable adjunct to the larger exhibitions. The Premier recalled the first exhibition held in Victoria, when there were only twelve Shorthorns, four of five sheep, a rooster with five eggs, and some field crop displays. From this small beginning the present exhibition had grown so that it would be a pity to see the smaller fairs eliminated just because economic conditions made the work harder. If fair officials could struggle through these years of depression he felt sure that their efforts would be rewarded with even greater success when better times came, and a return to prosperity was inevitable, he said.

GOVERNMENT AID
The Premier then outlined what the Government was doing to further the interests of agriculturists. He particularly mentioned the reduction that had been effected in range fees as an inducement to breeders to continue with their work. These fees, he said, had been cut from fifteen cents an acre to four cents and within the railway belt to two cents.

At the forthcoming conference of Provincial and Dominion Government officials to be held in Toronto, other matters pertaining to the advancement of agriculture would be discussed.

Prize awards in one of the best goat shows ever held at a Victoria exhibition were announced yesterday following the completion of judging. In this show there was an exceptionally fine collection of high-grade animals and the interest shown in the exhibits was far more enthusiastic than in previous years. The competitions were keen and the winners were in doubt right up to the time of the announcement of awards.

Miss J. E. Harvey's Frisigen Princess Victoria captured the championship in purebred Saanen. The grand champion in grade Saanen was awarded to the same animal. In purebred Toggenburg, W. & K. Burton's Tulla took the senior championship, and his Glen Tulla was the junior. Tulla was also awarded the grand championship in grade Toggenburg. The British Columbia Goat Breeders' Association Challenge Cup for certified doe and kid was won by Mrs. L. Blakeney's Frisigen Easter and Joseph.

WELL BEING OF GOVERNMENT

There are two branches of the public service in which, in the interests of social welfare, efficiency should be maintained. One is the Civil Service and the other is the teaching profession. In both, provided adequacy to carry on the tasks undertaken is shown, and provided there is good behavior, there should be security of tenure of livelihood. It is only in that way that a permanent Civil Service and a teaching profession equal to its responsibilities can be maintained. If either of these callings is made the football of political intervention, then it must suffer. There is a standard and a calibre that should be persistently aimed at if there is to be continuity of good service to the state. Upon the character of that service much of the well being of the state depends.

Both the Civil Service and the teaching profession in this Province have suffered from the economies which it has been thought desirable to put into practice. In this respect we mean that the personnel has suffered through salary decreases, and in many cases through loss of employment. In the case of Civil Servants there ought to be such a well-ordered system adopted and maintained that it should never be necessary, no matter what the economic vicissitudes may be, to dispense with the services of gazetted employees, granted always that their behavior is good and that they continue to show ability and adequacy in carrying out their daily duties. Similarly, in the teaching profession, it ought to be endowed with permanence based on ability and behavior. If these standards do not guide such state services; if, in fact, there is the element of uncertainty in the tenure of opportunity to earn a livelihood, both the Civil Service and the teaching profession must suffer.

Salary reductions have been put into effect among the Provincial Civil Servants and among the teachers of the Province. They have been accepted loyally because it was recognized that the taxpayers as a whole have been suffering from economic stress. To such economies, however, there ought to be a limit, based not only on the standard of living that should be maintained, but based as well on the character of the work done. There is a suggestion abroad that both Civil Servants and teachers should submit to salary reductions at least twice as great as those to which they have been already subjected. That would be an exceedingly retrograde step, and it is one which we do not believe for a moment has popular support. If the suggestion were put into effect it is conceivable that both callings would suffer irretrievable harm, and that much of the effort which has gone into the task of building up an efficient Civil Service and a capable body of school teachers would be rendered nugatory.

A Government in pursuing economies has to consider the principle on which public service is based and the standards set to insure that principle governs its ability to cater to public needs. No self-respecting British Columbian wants to see either the Civil Service or the teaching profession prostituted through parsimonious methods. In both those callings, if efficiency is to be fostered, then the laborer is worthy of his hire. That hire should be based, not only on a standard, as elsewhere, but also, as in other countries in the case of a Civil Service, on statutory increases so as to reward both merit and length of service. It is the same with teachers. They should be encouraged to better themselves by the character of the work they do. It is only by recognition of service that the best work can be obtained from a majority in any calling in life. That should be a principle governing the attitude of constituted authority towards those who are its instruments in giving public service. Unless that attitude maintains there is a weakening, not only in the morale of public servants but a definite decline in the art of government itself.

DUMPING OF RUSSIAN TIMBER

The "Hullam Formula," arising out of the Imperial Conference proceedings, which provides for stopping dumping of State-controlled commodities from foreign sources which will interfere with the trade expected to be developed through the various agreements made between Britain and the rest of the countries of the Empire, is a matter for Britain herself to put into force. From the Canadian viewpoint it is obvious that a very substantial assistance can be given to a basic industry in this Dominion if and when steps are taken to prevent the dumping of Soviet timber supplies in the United Kingdom. That dumping was the crux of considerable controversy at Ottawa during recent weeks. It is a matter the repercussions of which are likely to be heard for years to come.

It is significant that at a time when Canada, New Zealand and Australia were fighting the battle at Ottawa for more favorable facilities for lumber trade within the Empire that the matter of Russian dumping of timber supplies should have been engaging the attention of the ordinary general meeting of Denny, Mott and Dickson in London, a company which has interests throughout the world. At that meeting the chairman pointed out that, in spite of the general agreement that the world's new today is to raise the prices of primary commodities and raw materials to a level high enough to give a reasonable reward to the producer, "our Government (Britain) has taken no steps to limit or prevent the dumping of Russian timber into this country, with the result that trade here has been dislocated and demoralized." Needless to say, Denny, Mott and Dickson took no part in the company formed last Spring which has brought into Britain from 400,000 to 450,000 standards of sawn softwoods from the Soviet. This timber has glutted a continually dwindling consumption. It is not only in Britain that the dumping of Russian timber has "told its sorry tale."

The company has a large investment in British Columbia and the chairman pointed out how that investment has suffered. He pointed out, too, how, "no matter what tariff policy individual countries have pursued most of them have found it necessary to penalize dumping." Under Britain's trade agreement with the Soviet, the latter is allowed to sell unlimited quantities of timber in the United Kingdom at prices no concern in the British Dominions can meet, and with a guarantee to refund to buyers any fall in market prices during the year—a guarantee that no commercial firm can give. The chairman says that, "to do business in Great Britain, a British-owned mill operating in British Columbia must consequently sell timber at less than cost to it of raw material. The British preference of 10 per cent to us becomes a mere friendly gesture."

THE WOOL INDUSTRY

Two-thirds of the wool in the world trade is produced in the British Empire. The sheep population of the world is estimated at 800,000,000, producing from 3,500,000,000 to 4,000,000,000 pounds of wool annually. Australia, South Africa and New Zealand produce 1,500,000,000 pounds, and among it the best wool produced anywhere. Canada is entering into the industry more and more. In pre-war years her export were only about 1,000,000 pounds annually; now it has risen to a yearly average of 7,000,000, which is 40 per cent of the production in the country.

The chief producing areas outside the Empire are South America, the United States and Russia. In the latter two countries there is not enough produced to leave a surplus for export; in fact the United States imports carpet wools. Russia imports the finer wools. A survey made by the Empire Marketing Board shows that the United States and Russia are not likely to assume any importance in the near future as exporters of raw wool.

It is significant that the wool industry is in a somewhat static condition. For three or four years past there has been no notable increase in the sheep population. There has been little variation in the export trade since 1926. In wool large stocks have not accumulated because there has been no over-production in the industry. In Canada there have been increases in flocks, but there are less than 4,000,000 sheep in the Dominion. Expansion here has been limited because in so many parts of the country indoor shelter has to be provided in winter, and there has also to be winter feeding which tends to add to the costs of the industry. It is in the Canadian West that the greatest expansion in the industry is taking place, flocks having trebled in number since 1911, but still Quebec and Ontario raise about 50 per cent of the sheep in the Dominion. There is a new trend in the export trade in wool from Canada. It used to go to the United States. In 1931 the bulk went to the United Kingdom.

Soviet Russia is versatile in its propaganda. Up to a few weeks ago the Soviet press maintained that Germany was completely disarmed, and the victim of Great Britain and France and other "militarist Powers." Now that press declares that Germany's military strength is greater than is generally suspected, and that she outwitted the Allied Commissions and concealed arms and munitions in contravention of the Treaty of Versailles. The change of outlook is inspired by the growing strength of Hitlerism and its opposition to the Communists.

The important thing about Professor Picard's ascent to ten miles above the earth's surface is not that he got there, but what he discovered about the stratosphere. On that, so far, there is an absolute silence. The real discovery will be how to get away from earth altogether when it proves too boring. On this aspect of scientific research there will be a goodly company on the side of the angels.

WEEDS

They trespass in my little garden plot,
Heeding no law, and I must toil for hours
Destroying them, lest they in turn destroy
The fragile beauty of my cherished flowers.

They trespass in the garden of my life,
And I, the gardener, must daily strive
To brush these intruders that offend
That deeds of worth may flourish and survive.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

While resignation easily slopes away—
And all his prospects whithering to the last,
His men commence as the world he past.

—Goldsmith.

The burning question of the day is, what shall we do to bring back prosperity? We have been reading almost everything eminent economists and equally eminent politicians have said in reply to the burning question, and have reached the conclusion that prosperity cannot be brought back, that it must be left alone, and that when it arrives at the end of the misty road it will turn around and come back. But prosperity will not come back with a rush, like a train upon a long stretch and a level track, or an airplane in the heavens. It will come back so gradually that very few people will notice it and will be unconscious of its arrival.

Topsey, one of the principal characters in a book which at one time was widely read, when asked who knew her, replied that she did not know she was made at all, but "expected she just grew." Prosperity is like that: it cannot be made; it must just grow. We expect prosperity is growing now, and that although somewhat feeble at present, presently we will all realize that it is developing fast and will very soon attain a hasty growth. Prosperity will be here long before eminent authorities have decided what measures must be taken to bring it back.

Most of the eminent economic authorities are agreed that before prosperity can be brought back there must be an increase of commodity prices. We assume that the commodities whose prices must be raised include everything considered necessary to the life and comfort of the human race. But if the value of commodities be raised by either natural or artificial processes, that will involve a decline in the value of money, and therefore a corresponding increase in the cost of living.

We notice that one of the free trade critics of the Imperial pact negotiated at Ottawa is that it will increase the prices of commodities and decrease the value of the pound sterling and all the fractions thereof. If the criticism is sound, it is apparent that prosperity cannot be restored by raising the prices of commodities—at least not with the consent of the Cobdenites or other free trade theorists. And yet at a time when commodity prices were highest and the prices of labor correspondingly high, prosperity abounded in Canada, in Great Britain, and in almost every part of the world.

Other authorities who profess to be qualified judges of the course of business events are looking to the stock exchanges for a sign of an upward trend in the affairs of trade and commerce. Those authorities declare that when values which appear to us to be purely speculative go up, prosperity will not only have turned the corner, but will be knocking at the door. But people of simple minds and limited comprehension of the mysterious dealings on the stock exchanges never could understand what relation there was between buying and selling scraps of paper and buying and selling tangible things like commodities. Regularly recurring panics on the stock exchanges have amply demonstrated that there was no direct relation between the prices at which stocks were sold on the exchanges and the earnings capacity of the stocks sold. We stand behind the statement in the last sentence, notwithstanding the published exhortation of a brother commentator at the apex of the crazy stock boom that there was no limit to the value of the securities daily offered for sale on the New York Stock Exchange.

So we are not going to turn to the stock exchange in search of signs of the end of the depression and the beginning of prosperity. Any stock exchange is an unreliable business barometer. Mariners who have navigated the waters of all parts of the world tell us that in the waters of this part of the world readings of the barometer cannot absolutely be depended upon; that the atmospheric pressure upon the mercury may indicate fair weather at a time when a squall is brewing. When the prices of stocks on the exchanges go up with a rush they are sure to fall with a crash. He is a wise stock speculator who knows when the time has come to run into a sheltered harbor of refuge.

One of the most reliable of United States newspapers has warned investors not to put their trust in the stock exchanges, for they are even less to be trusted than princes were in the days when such potentates wielded considerable influence in the affairs of nations. If the prices of stocks are up today they may be down tomorrow. The movements on the exchanges are as variable as the weather in the winter season of the year. Of course the vagaries in quotations are the vagaries of the market.

THE COLONIST IN LONDON

from day to day are easily accounted for. The ups and downs are determined by a mysterious process which is described as "taking profits." One day the bears may be taking their profits, and the succeeding day the bulls may be taking their profits.

The point of chief interest in connection with the question of prosperity and its return or its delay is that no authority seems to be agreed upon the question. One authority maintains that prices of commodities must be increased and stabilized, while another authority declares that if commodity prices are increased and stabilized the value of money and labor must undergo a corresponding decline. The man of wisdom will pay no attention to these opinions, but put his trust in time and growth. Prosperity cannot be brought back; it will do what it always has done; it will come back of its own volition.

THE BLIND CAN SEE

There's a hidden charm
In the mighty pine
As it awakes in the Summer breeze.
And a song is sung
When the day is done
By the shimmering silver seas.
But the strangest thing
In life's mystic plan
Which appeals so strongly to me
Is the blind man's sight.
That can see no light.
Finds God in the heart of a tree.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Aline Michaelis

HARD TIMES
Hard times have come to bear away
The toys with which we loved to play.
The useless gauds that filled the house
That taxed our strength and sapped our powers.

Hard times, to prove to honest men
The value of simple things again,
To warn us in groping hearts once more
Of hidden joys that we had lost before.
The old ideals they held before
They grew too worldly and too wise
To cherish joys men used to prize.
Hard times have come to test our strength
And lead us back to peace at length.
Away from vain display and waste,
From foolish pride and useless haste.

May we be hardened to endure
The radical and bitter cure
For ills which we ourselves have made
In vaunting days, afraid
Of humble fare and honest toil
That mark man's kinship with the soil.

Hard times have come to make each man
Build life upon a better plan.

CONFERENCE ON SEWER PLANNED

Investigation of Septic Tank Menace Completed by Health Officer

A conference between city and Saanich officials to discuss the question of settling the differences that exist between the two corporations over the northwest sewer, is being planned by Alderman Alex. Peden, chairman of the health committee. It was learned yesterday.

Dr. Richard Felton, the city's medical health officer, has completed his investigation of the septic tank situation along the city-Saanich boundary, and his report is now being studied by Alderman Peden preparatory to inviting a conference.

It is shown in Dr. Felton's report that the effluent from septic tanks in Saanich seeps through to the city and creates a menace to health at certain sections of the boundary. Also it is pointed out that construction of homes is increasing along the boundary and that a situation is rapidly developing whereby a sewage system will become imperative.

Alderman Peden believes that through a friendly conference with Saanich officials some agreement can be reached over the settlement of the price that Saanich should pay for the northwest sewer connection, and a plan evolved whereby the residents of the inner ward could be given sewer facilities without any great cost to the municipality.

FREE TRADE

Sir.—The letter in your issue of Thursday, by Trevor Keene, is very refreshing to me as an old advocate of free trade. The world apparently is finding out that high tariffs are not a cure for all the ills of humanity. Canada was the first to find that so far as wheat was concerned by protecting their elevators. But, thank God, the Old Land had other sources of supply which it could have taken advantage of, but refrained from doing so for a long period of time and annoyance. If Canada or Chicago, for instance, can dictate to Liverpool it still has another thing to come.

I know my London docks like a book, where millions of pounds sterling are made by the intermediate trader. Ask the man who was brought up in London and he will tell you that for the absolutely choicest food and lowest prices London has the world's market, so when it comes to manufacturing they have the pick of the world, and those who buy know that "made in Britain" means only one thing, "the best." The great financial and business heads of Great Britain have no equal in the universe, and when it comes to the disposal of scrap, who is there to lick them?

Free trade even has something to do with that, if only to give the men a lot of good rum.

Borrowing big sums of money at a high rate of interest won't get us anywhere. This applies to our City Council as well. It has always amazed me that I often notice when countries twist the bullock's tail and he shows his teeth, they at once run and start patting him and say "good doggie, there's a good doggie." W. J. DANDRIDGE, 1612 Bell Street, Victoria, B.C., August 25, 1932.

USING THE OPENING TWO-BID

One of the greatest faults of the average bridge player is his excessive use of the opening two-bid. This is a very valuable bid, but one which should be used sparingly on those rare occasions when a sure game can practically be guaranteed.

White hands which contain 5-2 honor-tricks are usually strong enough distributionally to justify a two-bid, frequently occasions arise when the distribution is not so favorable and a bid of this kind plunges a pair into the deep mire of the severe penalty zone.

The following hand, submitted by Mr. Robert A. Campbell, of Hope, Arkansas, illustrates why two-bids are extremely dangerous.

Children born on this August 27 will have sweet and gentle natures, which will be sensitive and easily influenced by prevailing conditions. They will be very much children of fate, as they will lack the ambition or courage to force themselves on to a higher plane than those on which they were born.
A strong sense of duty keeps you pretty well on the job, and cleaned up with your obligations, if born on August 27. You have to have any kind of obligations hanging over your head. From one side of your character you get an inclination to

SAYS PERSONAL TOUCH NEEDED

H. Anscomb Is Convinced Victoria Must Extend This Medium

"A tour of 2,800 miles along the Pacific Coast has solidified my conviction that the personal touch between Victoria and the various auto clubs, publicity bureaus, chambers of commerce, hotels and all other agencies connected with the direction of travel is most important for this city," said ex-Mayor Herbert Anscomb upon his return yesterday from a tour which took him and George I. Warren, the commissioner of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, all along the coast as far south as San Francisco.

Mr. Anscomb went on to say that, while in the past there had been a good deal done in this line of utilizing the personal appeal by Mr. Warren, he was satisfied that more of this kind of work would have to be done if the city was to get the full benefits of its publicity work. "I am satisfied that if we are to retain our grip on the job and flow of the tourist traffic we must extend this personal touch in the future."

TOURIST TRAVEL LAGS
Reviewing the situation of the tourist traffic he found it, the president of the bureau said that this year travel was down. In Oregon it was as much as Vancouver Island in the respect. In California, thanks to the fact that the Shriners' convention was held in San Francisco and the Olympic Games in Los Angeles, there had been some stimulation to this traffic, so that the situation in this regard was not as bad as elsewhere. There was a lesson to be learned from the experience of California this year, and that was that it was a wise measure on the part of Victoria to secure, as in the past, all the conventions that could be directed this way. The city was a model convention city and the publicity bureau was advertising to the world the advantages of coming here.

MUST SHOW ENERGY
The Pacific highways from Los Angeles through San Francisco and up the coast should be developed by Victoria as a main artery of travel with its northern terminal in this city.

"We cannot sit down in Victoria and expect the Americans to do all the work of cultivating travel this way," said Mr. Anscomb. "Victoria citizens must do this for themselves."

Mr. Anscomb praised the work being done by the contact men representing the city. He mentioned the work of Mr. McEwen, Captain P. M. O'Connor at Coquille and Grants Pass, and Oliver Hollingsworth at Portland. Everywhere they received the highest praise concerning their representatives. It appeared as if they had left nothing undone that would create a favorable contact with the traveling public and with those with whom they came in contact.

Mr. Warren was equally well satisfied with the situation which he found. He also spoke of the way in which the contact men had kept up their work during the year. While Victoria has suffered somewhat in the volume of tourist traffic this year, it was no different from the states on the other side.

WERE WELL RECEIVED
He spoke in high terms of the reception which was accorded them at all the meetings. The consummation of a most successful tour was reached in the final meeting at the Victoria Hotel, where a large number of guests were present.

FUNERAL YESTERDAY

He had a very fine collection of Rhode Island Reds in the show.

RAMSAY'S RINK WINS BOWLING

Captures "Bacon" at Burnside Club—Victoria Four Second—Keen Competition

When, some years ago, James Fletcher, prominent in the bacon interests of British Columbia, visited the Burnside Lawn Bowling Club, as an expression of his appreciation of the entertainment he enjoyed and the progressive spirit shown by the club, he donated a prize for annual competition.

This example was followed by the various milling concerns of the province, and last night the annual match for the possession of the Burnside "Fletcher of Bacon" was held, the members of the entertaining club inviting as many of their friends as possible from the neighboring bowling clubs.

First prize, the bacon, was captured by the rink skipped by D. Ramsay, of the Burnside club; second prize, flour donated by one of the milling companies, going to the Victoria club rink skipped by R. Tutill, while a similar prize for the place went to C. A. Goodwin and his rink. The spectators to the lot of the rink skipped by J. Paterson. Following are the rinks competing, and their scores:

Wardle & Arrowsmith Display Ninety Varieties—New Seedlings Shown

From a field of 600,000 gladioli, including 100,000 seedlings, Wardle & Arrowsmith, of Buxton Gardens, Saanichton, have entered exhibits of ninety different varieties in this year's flower show at the Willows exhibition.

The mass of flowers has been artistically displayed, making the array one of the most outstanding exhibits in the Main Agricultural Hall.

GENUINE ORCHID
Among the registered varieties, "The Orchid" has attracted considerable attention. One invariably says "that one looks just like an orchid" and on closer inspection is rewarded with the information that it is "The Orchid" variety. Its crepe-like fluted petals of lavender shade merging into mauve makes it like a genuine orchid both as to shape and coloring.

MANY SEEDLINGS
It is among the seedlings, however, that the visitors find the most interesting exhibits. Developed at his own bulb farm, these seedlings offer some attractive varieties never before shown.

One seedling in particular compares favorably with any of the other entries. It measures seven inches across from the tip of one petal to the tip of another and has a deep pink shade, unmarred by any blotches.

The "Mother Macrae" variety, with its curled petals and combination of twelve colors is another variety worthy of inspection. Unquestionably, this exhibit affords the gardener plenty of choice and is shown at a time when most people are planning their next year's planting.

PROVINCES MAY MEET PREMIER

Relief Matters Would Be Discussed With Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett

Provincial Governments may take advantage of the impending Western tour of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett to secure an audience with the Prime Minister on unemployment relief affairs. This was intimated yesterday at the Legislative Buildings, when Premier Toome sent a wire to Premier Brownie, of Alberta, as to a joint conference by Western Provinces with the Dominion authorities. Mr. Bennett is to reach Calgary probably next week.

Acting in conjunction with municipalities, the four Western Provinces recently requested the Dominion Government to assume additional contributions to relief. Now that the Imperial Conference is out of the way it is expected action will be taken to secure finality in respect to relief arrangements.

On its own behalf, the Provincial Government is anxious to go ahead in a limited way with farm settlement proposals and to assist the municipalities to some extent in the measure of assistance in the alleviation of unemployment this fall and winter.

THE LUCKY LAWRENCES

By KATHLEEN MORRIS

INSTALLMENT XX

To Gail it was a thrilling time, this autumn filled with hints of change, of endings and beginnings. She was in love and it was entirely different from what she had expected it to be. Far from giggles, rapture and excitement, it was a serious business; it made her feel grown up and responsible.

She could never love anyone else than Dick; it was all settled. Everything she thought now had to have him in it; the future had narrowed itself down to just Dick.

He had no money—it did not matter. Gail, who had always felt that Clipperville limited and bound her, knew herself quite willing—ah, breathlessly willing—to live contentedly in Clipperville forever, if Dick so decreed. What if Ariel or Edith would think of this sudden altering of all her dreams was nothing; there was nothing anywhere, except Dick!

And meanwhile Van had established a more comfortable footing in the old Lawrence house than ever before, and while he and Ariel did not seem to be exactly having an affair, there was a far more substantial base to their relationship than his friendship with Gail had ever known. Very quietly, in an almost bored tone, Ariel told her sisters in early November that Van was going East to get to work.

"No more college?"

"No; he wants to get into the business. His father says he'll start him in the New Jersey plant."

"Then he won't come back to Clipperville?"

"Yes. He's going to be back for a week in January."

"He's coming back after her!" Edith said when she and Gail were alone.

"Oh, Edie, it does look like it!" Gail's imagination was off at full speed again; Ariel married at eighteen to young Van Murchison; Edith and Phil and Sam living on here at the old house; herself and Dick—

But this last snatched at her breathe. Herself and Dick. People in the library would glance at her; "She's engaged; she's going to marry that young lawyer, Richard Stebbins."

Dick would have cases and she would start every detail of every case and keep up with him. And she would have babies.

Happiness, happiness, happiness—to be married to him, to have Dick all to herself! The miracle of marriage, the amazing flaming glory of it, surrounded her by a cloud of mist by day and of fire by night.

It began to seem as if things were happening in Clipperville after all. The sluggish current of Gail's life was stirred in many ways. It was not only that Phil got a raise and that Van Murchison might marry Ariel, Sam was working for a scholarship and might actually win a year at Columbia University. Gail was assistant librarian now, with the name "Abigail Lawrence" printed in gold on the library windows and a salary of fifty-five dollars a month.

And then Christmas was coming. Always exciting, it seemed doubly so this year. Gail fairly danced to work in the mornings and Edith would come home in the darkness of five o'clock to hear Gail singing in the kitchen.

Dick was boarding with them now, for his mother had gone to Oregon to stay with a daughter newly widowed.

There was one cloud in the sky this winter to be sure. Gail and Edith acknowledged its existence bravely one December evening when they asked Dick if he thought Phil really cared for Lily Cass.

"That's a hard question to answer," Dick said with a faint frown. "Is she divorced, Dick?"

"No. But there's talk of it." She hasn't seen Joe for two years."

"And if she were, do you believe Phil really would marry her?"

"I suppose I have." Dick sighed slowly. "Would you girls care?"

"You've answered!" Gail said with a brief merciless laugh.

"I suppose I have." Dick sighed again. "There—there never was anything wrong with Lily—" he offered doubtfully.

was twinkling and sparkling in the black night as the Lawrences came wearily, excitedly, out and started for home. Ariel was very silent.

But Gail and Edith were gay. Christmas Eve at library and shop was over, and nothing but fun and holiday ahead. Their words tumbled over each other; their thoughts were busy with additional surprises and plans.

Edith thought of the tissue paper and ribbons in her lower bureau drawer. She would begin wrapping and marking packages right after dinner; she had completely ruined herself in presents, as usual, and she felt the usual joy in her plight.

Gail thought of presents, too. She wondered if Dick would give her a present—of course, he would! She would not care what it was, but the most valued thing she received. Dick needed socks and ties and belts and gloves—if he went to Los Angeles next week, he would need gloves—but she dared give him none of these. Books. She had two books for him. In one, with a fast-beating heart, she wrote: "Dick, with love from A. L."

"Perhaps we'll be married by next Christmas!" thought Gail, running, racing, hurrying home in the black rainy darkness of Christmas Eve.

It seemed to her the most wonderful Christmas they had ever had. From the hour on Christmas Eve, Ariel and Edith got into the kitchen and tried to the warm kitchen and to planning and laughter, and tea, toast and jam, and wrapping gifts, and surprises, until midnight.

The clean-shaven hard cheek was against her own, his tremendous grip lifted her, held her shoulders tight; she felt weak, helpless; she drank the deliciousness of that first kiss as if it were a draught of heady wine. For an instant she was his, dazzled and ecstatic. Then painting, laughing, she was squarely on her feet again, still close to him.

Well, Edith! The next time you have a bright idea, you might take Dick and me into your counsel!"

"Don't worry—about anything that comes up, Gail," Dick was saying, rather confused and breathless. "I'll be back in a few days. Everything will come out all right!"

He was gone. They heard the engine start and laughed at each other as they wandered down to the kitchen.

"Allow me to be the first to congratulate you on your exquisite manners, Miss Edith Lawrence!"

"Well, I don't care!" said Edith unashamed. "His mother isn't here, he's all alone, and such a darling!"

Edith and Sam had tea and cold turkey. But Gail, although she sat with them at the table, was feeding on finer food and could not touch their tangible viands. Her mouth—her whole being still pulsated to Dick's grave hard definite kiss.

Phil came in at 9 and they all talked idly until the clock amazed them by striking 10. Then every one was up at once and Gail went to the telephone. If Ariel was as late as this, Phil must go get her. Poor Phil, who looked so tired!

"Let me run upstairs, Gail," Edith pleaded, "and see if she hasn't slipped in and gone to bed! She can't be at the Vails' this late—"

She's there if old man Vail has got started on the Civil War," Sam muttered.

They were still laughing at his tone when Edith came downstairs with a letter in her hand and a whitened face.

"It was on her pillow, Gail."

"What?" Gail whispered. Without moving her eyes from Edith's she tore open the sealed envelope.

"She's gone!" Phil said.

"Gloped with Van!" Sam suggested.

"Read it!" Gail whispered, handing the written sheet to Phil.

Bursaries Awarded by Committee

Miss Barbara Doris Pettipiece, of the Lord Byng High School, Vancouver, and Mr. William Holborne, of Powell River, are the winners of the Victoria High School bursaries for the past two years, having been awarded the two $200 bursaries given by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire under its war memorial scholarship plan.

The announcement was made at a meeting of the committee of selection for the B.C. Provincial Chapter. Both students are children of war veterans. Miss Pettipiece, the daughter of the late E. F. Pettipiece who was killed at the battle of Ypres in 1916. She was sixteen years old last March and passed well in the senior matriculation this year, and did exceedingly well in her junior matriculation last year. She will enter second year Arts at the University of British Columbia, her ultimate aim being to become a high school teacher.

Mr. William Holborne is the son of the late W. D. Holborne, who was killed at Passchendaele in 1917. He is fifteen years of age and intends taking first year Arts at Victoria College and then a course in applied science.

From letters and reports concerning the two students, the committee feels confident that they will maintain the high standard of work which has been shown by all former bursary holders.

The committee of selection included president, Mrs. Andrew Wright, Mrs. C. J. Sampson, provincial I.O.D.E. provincial councillor, the Bishop of Columbia, Dr. S. J. Willis, B. C. Nicholas, F. Brand, B.C. (Oxon), and Miss A. B. Cooke, provincial I.O.D.E. educational secretary and convenor of the committee.

Household Hints

By Mrs. Mary Morton

MENU HINT

Hamburg steak, mashed potatoes, corn and celery, sliced cucumbers, apple soufflé, coffee.

Apples are cheap and healthful. They may be utilized in the menu in a great many different ways. Use them often. This apple soufflé may be a new dessert to many of you.

Today's Recipes

Corn and Celery—Cut the corn off about four ears of corn and add one-third as much celery as you have corn; cut in small pieces. Boil until tender in slightly salted water, when soft drain off the water and add a piece of butter about as big as a thumb. A little milk may be added if desired.

Appleauce Soufflé—Beat two cups of very sweet appleauce to a foamy cream with a tablespoon of melted butter. When light, mix into it a scant cupful of fine bread crumbs and yolks of two eggs. A minute later add the juice of one lemon, a pinch of the peel and the same of mace. Beat hard, whip in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs, turn into a buttered pudding dish and bake one-half hour. Eat hot with whipped cream or with hard sauce.

Sum of $147 Realized on Heather Day

The Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E., has once more carried Heather Day to a successful conclusion, and the convenor, Mrs. Walter Burton, and her band of faithful and willing workers have proved that in "keeping one hand on the traditions of the past," the memory of the men who left Victoria on August 26, 1914, is still kept green. Though the returns are not as large as in former years from the sale of heather, amounting to $147, it was due to any cause other than lack of hard work on the part of the sellers, who piled their trade from early morning till late afternoon, and formed an attractive feature on the street corners during the busy hours. Visitors received by the regent, Mrs. R. B. McKinnon, included Colonel Lorne Ross, Colonel Ross Napier, Corporal E. D. Carter, and other returned men, also officers of the Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., and interested friends. The chapter desires to express thanks to all helpers, and to Messrs. Pemberton & Son for the use of a store for headquarters.

What One Girl Wore

By BETTY BROWNLEE

Hey! Hey! Here's another Summer season quickly doing the disappearing act. In fact, speaking in terms of the fashion world, the costume, and will be equally smart for you to use for lounging when you get back to town.

There are clothes you can choose to take away for the late Summer vacation that you can use when you get back to town, too.

Consider, for instance, the stunning pajama ensemble sketched to-day. This makes a lovely beach costume, and will be equally smart for you to use for lounging when you get back to town.

They're made of bright red wool, and the trousers are cut very full, almost on the lines of a skirt. There are all pockets over the hips, and white buttons are used effectively as trimming. The bodice is cut in the very new and popular rump effect, and underneath you see a very tailored, short-sleeved white crepe blouse with a mannish collar. The finishing touch is a red and white striped tie.

PARIS STYLES

Distinguished Visitors Are On Way West

By MARY KNIGHT
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS (UP).—Parisian couturiers certainly have been riling the male department in their search for ideas applicable to the winter wardrobe, but since they have been eminently successful so far, no charges are being preferred against them.

On the contrary, everyone who sees what they are doing prefers to leave them alone to perfect their masterpieces. It is material and general tailoredness of line, more than anything else, that the French dressmakers have "copped" from the masculine arena—herringbone weaves in all kinds of fabrics, not just suits materials—and tweeds and English plaids, too, since they have become very popular the year round. Skirts with many gores in them, as many often as fifteen, meeting at the waist, having been tapered to just the right dimensions.

Clubs and Societies

Emmanuel W.M.S.

The Missionary Society of the Emmanuel Baptist Church met at the Japanese Tea Gardens on Tuesday afternoon, the meeting taking the form of a picnic. Mrs. M. S. Richardson, who recently returned from the Northern Baptist convention in San Francisco and the Olympic Games in Los Angeles, charmed her hearers with a talk, "Ramblings From Victoria to Los Angeles." Arrangements were made to hold a silver tea on Thursday, September 15, at the home of Mrs. William Russell, 2642 Fernwood Road. Interesting news items from the foreign fields were given.

Chemainus Review

The regular meeting of Chemainus Review, No. 19, Women's Benefit Association, was held recently in the K. of P. Hall, with eighteen members present. After communications and reports, a read and the regular order of business were the meeting closed. Refreshments were served and a social evening followed.

Guest Tea

Friends of Groups A, B and C of the Women's Societies of First United Church are reminded of the guest tea to be held in the church hall on the afternoon of the first Wednesday in September, September 7.

Plan Guest Tea

Members of the A, B and C groups of the women's societies of the First United Church will hold a guest tea in the church hall on Wednesday, September 7.

FURNITURE MOVERS RUSHED

Agitation for new houses to replace old tenements has caused people of Belfast, Ireland, to become habitually restless. Many are moving, and this has given the furniture movers the greatest business they have had for years. Applicants must wait their turn for service.

Performed Big Tasks In Four Swift Years

Dedication of Cairn at Norway House Honors Remarkable Achievement of Rev. Jas. Evans in Giving Literature to Cree Indians of Continent

The picture that appeared in The Colonist recently, of the dedication at Norway House of a memorial cairn to Rev. James Evans, recalls the shortness of the period in which this missionary genius performed his almost incredible tasks. For he died in his forty-sixth year and his residence at Norway House lasted not more than four years.

Besides visiting over a vast area and erecting three buildings at Norway House, James Evans in these four swift years learned new languages and completed his Cree syllables, which he began in Western Ontario, and gave the Bible to the aborigines in characters very easily learned. To do this he had as Dr. J. A. Cormie states in The New Outlook, "to make with his own hands his first type, his only tool a pen-knife, to mix himself some printer's ink out of fish oil and powdered charcoal, to improvise a printing press out of a fur press, and to print part of the Bible in a language which two years before he did not know and which he did not know until he gave it one."

READ OVER WIDE AREA

The cairn is a conspicuous mark on Playgreen Lake, north of Lake Winnipeg. It may crumble, but James Evans, as Mr. Walters, the Anglican missionary, is reported to have said, will have an imperishable monument in the literature read on the Indian reserves from the eastern shore of Labrador to the western slopes of the Rocky Mountains, and used by Protestant and Catholic missionaries alike over the whole area.

For the conference on July 3, of which the dedication of the cairn was the climax, Indians had assembled from all parts of the vast mission field, some of them having made a six-day journey. Missionaries were there who receive mail only once a year. At the Communion service over one hundred Indians partook of the elements. Dr. Cormie refers to the increasing economic difficulties confronting the Indians, one of the causes being the practice of carrying of freight by airplanes, instead of being packed on natives' backs.

Louis Winner Remains for Second Week

Louis Winner, who has been lecturing the past week at the New Thought Temple on the "Laws of Prosperity," will speak at both services at the Temple today. The subject for the morning service, at 11 o'clock, will be "Vicarious Suffering," an inspirational talk upon love relationships between parents and children. In the evening, at 8 o'clock, Mr. Winner will speak on the subject of "God's Promise Fulfilled." Miss Eileen Bennett will be the soloist. "He Lifted Me," by Charles Gabriel.

The series of lectures upon the "Laws of Prosperity," which Mr. Winner has been giving at the Temple during the past week, will continue each night next week. The subject for Monday night will be "The Law of Giving." The soloist, Mrs. Norma Smythe, comes from Saskatoon, where she has distinguished herself as soloist of the cathedral choir. She will sing soprano solos from Haydn's "Credo."

The Sunday school army in the United Church of Canada is recruiting steadily and in the latest returns, 1931, according to statistical returns, has made a net gain from 640,383 to 653,525 members. Looking toward the annual Rally Day, held in September, the Board of Religious Education announces an increase of 14 per cent in enrolment of young people's societies during the past year.

Church Personals

Rev. J. Fraser Campbell, D.D., aged eighty-six, is journeying across Canada with the intention of setting out to spend his last days in India, to which he has already given fifty-four years of missionary service. After his wife's death last year, he retired from active work and decided to go on furlough, but his love of humanity and desire to preach the Gospel to the land of love, are drawing him back to India. Accepting official retirement in 1927, after half century of service, Dr. Campbell resuscitated an abandoned mission, which he later handed over to Rev. J. W. R. Netram, who was a visitor here several years ago. He is expected to visit a sister in Vancouver this Fall.

The Archbishop of Canterbury has appointed Rev. John Owen Hall, of St. Luke's Church, Newcastle-on-Tyne, as Bishop of Victoria, Hongkong. In Student Movement circles, as missionary secretary he was known as "R.O." During the Chinese troubles, when the Defence Force was sent out, the Chinese Christian leaders made an urgent request for "R.O." to go out as the link between the Christians of England and China. With Dr. David Yul, he toured the University centres and both Christian men spoke from the same platform to British and Chinese audiences. He proved such a wonderful reconciler that the Chinese merchants in Shanghai were prepared to pay all his expenses if he stayed on. His appointment was a great opportunity of bridging the gulf between Chinese and the British.

DR. WM. LAMB TO CONTINUE

Prophetic Lectures on World Events Include Illustrated Talk on Pyramid

On account of the large attendance at the Central Baptist Church during the past week at the "Prophetic Conference," Dr. Wm. Lamb is prolonging his visit three more days. Consequently Sunday will afford another opportunity for all interested in prophecy and present-day world happenings to hear three special messages of pressing importance, giving fresh light from the word of God on world events. On Sunday morning Dr. Lamb will speak of the subject, "The Marriage in Heaven," at an afternoon rally at 3 o'clock the message will be on "The Collapse of All Human Government and the Approach of the Kingdom of God." The evening service at 7:30, "The Glorious Consequences of Earth's Mightiest Event."

On Monday at 7:45, Dr. Lamb will speak on "The Only Hope for the Human Race," and on Tuesday at 7:45, which will be the last meeting of the present series, the message will have a special appeal to hundreds, the subject being "The Great Pyramid in Egypt and Its Real Meaning," which will be illustrated by beautiful lantern pictures, giving information in one hour which it would take weeks of reading to secure.

Dr. Lamb is noted as a student of world happenings in the light of prophecy, and has held crowded meetings in the large cities of England and America. In spite of it being fair week and the holiday month, the meetings have been well attended with an increasing interest. It is expected that the remaining lectures will appeal to many more, and it is urged that as many as possible come early and occupy the front seats.

ALL METHODISTS TO ENTER UNION

Honor of Holding First Offices in United Body Falls to Wesleyan Branch

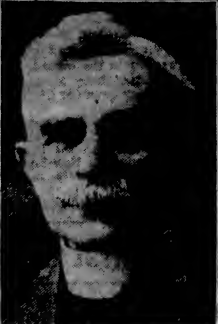

The almost absolute unanimity regarding the formation of a united Methodist church in Britain, that has marked the recent meetings of the Primitive and United conferences, was shown in the branch which held the honor of electing its founder. The Wesleyan Methodist Church had shown more hesitation about the amalgamating of the two churches, which has been the subject of two branches, but it is held by The Christian World as a wonderful testimony to the unwearied patience and steady perseverance of those who have worked for union, that out of 1,908 ministers in active work, only four have resigned. And these, it may be mentioned, have received generous treatment at the hands of their church.

Within a few weeks, the uniting conference will, after twenty years of preparation, be held in London. As it was the desire of the Primitive and United churches that the first executive officers of the new church, the Wesleyan Conference made the appointments at its closing sessions held last month. The honor of being first union president fell to Rev. Dr. Scott Lidgett, scholar, preacher, author, statesman, educationalist and editor. As Methodism's greatest layman and foremost worker for union, Sir Robert Perks was chosen vice-president. Sir Robert is well known in Canada and the United States.

HOSPITAL IN FAR NORTH IS AIDED

"The most northerly hospital in the British Empire" is that of the Anglican Church at Akivak, N.W.T., according to Ven. A. L. Fleming, Archdeacon of the Arctic, who describes a recent visit to this outpost in The Canadian Churchman.

The hospital was the gift of Colonel and Mrs. W. R. W. Leonard, of St. Catharines, Ont., and has received many gifts which have equipped fully with modern hospital appliances.

The Hudson's Bay Company gave free transportation to these gifts in recognition of the valuable work being done at Akivak and at the Pangnirtung Hospital, Baffin Land. Through the unceasing of the oil well at Port Norman on the Mackenzie River, 500 miles south of Akivak, fuel oil will be required to be freighted about one-quarter of the present distance, which is from Edmonton. The Imperial Oil Company of Canada has offered seven tons of oil free at Port Norman.

GIVES CAUSE OF NEED IN INDIA

Stanley High Ascribes Lack of Welfare Work to Hindu Philosophy of Humanity

In support of his conversion to the ardent advocacy of Christian missions as a result of his recent travels in Africa and Asia, Stanley High, of the editorial staff of The Christian Herald, of New York, makes the following statement in that journal: "If I could take every church member in the United States to India, to China, to Africa, and show them what I have seen, they would recognize the absolute necessity of carrying on, and increasing their missionary work in Asia and Africa."

Passing in review the social and moral conditions in these continents, Mr. High writes of the indifference to human welfare that is displayed in India and which he ascribes to the prevailing Hindu philosophy. "I visited Benares," he states, "holiest of India's holy places, yet the world can show few cities more overrun with disease and filth and human misery."

HUMANITY NEGLECTED
The cause of India's lack of the welfare work which is characteristic of Western lands, is indicated by Mr. High in assertion that Hinduism for twenty centuries has been intensely practiced in Benares, but has yet to raise as much as a little finger on behalf of these overburdened people.

"I suggested," he goes on to say, "to a Hindu sadu in Benares, that with his wealth and education, he ought to be able to find some way to social helpfulness. But he only smiled and said: 'That is what you Christians always say. For me, a Hindu, I must know God. That knowledge concerns no one but myself and Him; and least of all, the outcasts of Benares.'"

Big Crowd Sees Opening Wrestling Programme at New Indoor Arena

Bob Kruse Takes Sensational Bout From Grandovich

Portlander Pins Giant Polish Grappler Two Out of Three Falls—Semi-Wind-Up Keeps Fans in Uproar—Matmen Tear Down Ropes, Posts

Last night's opening wrestling card presented by the Pacific Stadium, Limited, in the Gray Line Arena, on Yates Street, proved to be a thriller and 1,000 fans witnessed two of the roughest contests ever staged in the city. In the main event, "Wild" Bob Kruse, of Portland, weighing 265 pounds, defeated John Grandovich, New Jersey, weighing 222 pounds, in five rounds of their scheduled eight ten-minute round event, with falls in the second and fifth stanzas. Rudy La Ditzl, Hungary, 212 pounds, won from Nick Elch, Siberia, 205 pounds, with a fall in the fourth, while the Siberian, who could not respond to the bell for the fifth.

Promoter A. E. "Winnipeg" Chilton is to be congratulated for the entertaining exhibition, which kept the capacity house on edge throughout. The arena is well arranged, with raised seats surrounding the ring, affording all fans an opportunity to watch the full progress of the bouts.

Prior to the opening bout, Mr. Chilton announced that the aim of the new body was to bring to Victoria first-class wrestlers and boxers, and assured his audience that only the best bouts would be staged providing the attendance warranted them. He was given a fine ovation by the crowd on the success of his new undertaking.

POPULAR MATCH
From the opening round of the Kruse-Grandovich event, it was evident that rough tactics were to be the order, and the powerful Grandovich proved a popular match for Kruse, whose reputation as "Wild Bob" has been established here.

The first fall of the match went to Kruse in the second round, when he pinned his opponent with an arm stretch. Grandovich argued over the fall without success with Referee

"Rocky" Brooks, claiming that he had not been down for the specified time. As the bout progressed in the third, it became rougher, with Kruse frequently running for the ropes and out of the ring, and both men using flats. Referee Brooks, who had his hands full in controlling the bout, issued warnings to both against these methods.

Grandovich evened the match in the fourth round, when he took a fall with a headlock. The deciding fall came in the fifth round, when Kruse pinned his opponent with a trip body slam, to win the bout. Grandovich was knocked out for several minutes when he struck the mat.

The five eight-minute-round event also proved a rare entertainment with the fans, including rough tactics and comedy. When about four minutes of the first stanza had ticked away, La Ditzl and Elch clinched in the center of the ring and fell towards the corner post. The force of the impact broke the corner post and the ring collapsed, both men continuing their bout with the ropes down.

The damage was soon repaired, however, and the progress of the match was not halted. La Ditzl took the only fall of this match in the fourth round from an airplane spin and body slam, from which Elch did not recover to continue in the fifth.

In a fast local preliminary, Lloyd Penlon and Reg Hopkins, both weighing 130 pounds, wrestled to a draw, and were well received by the fans. The midge bout between Charlie Ballam and Philip Ballam also resulted in a draw. "Rocky" Brooks, local heavyweight, refereed all the matches.

Margaret Ravior Retains Ten-Mile Swim Championship

Philadelphia Girl Captures $3,000 Prize at Toronto Exhibition—Evelyn Armstrong Second and May Looney Third

TORONTO, Aug. 26 (CP).—Husky blonde Margaret Ravior, of Philadelphia, queen of long-distance swimmers, retained her crown tonight. With apparently only the slightest effort she defeated twenty-eight of the finest swimmers the world had to offer, swam them into submission, just "coasted" home, and for the third year in succession won the Canadian National Exhibition's ten-mile women's professional swimming championship.

With the title, she wins $3,000 in prize money, a not unwelcome prize to a young lady who is about to be married.

True it was that Evelyn Armstrong, of Detroit, kept on even with Ravior on the last lap of the course, was accompanied in the water by her police dog, Bruce, and a goodly share of the ovation was distributed between Ruth and her dog. And Bruce, by the way, beat his mistress over the finish line by about five feet.

Terms with Miss Ravior on the very first lap of the swim, but from then on it was all Margaret. She simply maintained her strong, slow sweep, gaining on every lap, and was nearly fifteen minutes ahead of Miss Armstrong at the finish.

Here was the order of the finish, showing the six money winners, their times and prizes:
1. Margaret Ravior, Philadelphia; time, 5:27:18; $3,000.
2. Evelyn Armstrong, Detroit; time, 5:37:05; $1,500.
3. May Looney, Warren, Ohio; time, 5:42:29; $700.
4. Dorothy Nalevaig, Glen Cove, N.Y.; time, 5:50:39; $500.
5. Ruth Tower, Toronto; time, 6:03:21; $200.
6. Ruth Downing, Toronto; time, 6:08:29; $100.

NEVER CHALLENGED
Seldom, if ever before, has any one girl shown her superiority in the world of swimming to such an extent. For from the time Miss Ravior divered from the starting block as Premier George S. Henry raised the gun, until she swept across the finishing line more than five hours later, Margaret was never seriously challenged.

Later in the afternoon, as the swimmers neared the end, several terrific rainstorms swept in from the lake, driving spectators to cover. But at the finish, the sky was clear again. Margaret swam into the seawall calm as a pond. Outside the wall, a raging sea broke into masses of spray.

The retirement of Leah Riley, Kearsburg, N.J., girl who had been strongly favored to win the event, was one of the features of the event. Miss Riley, in third position and apparently swimming strongly, was forced to retire with but two miles to go. Another feature was the retirement of Lillian Coppelstone, Christchurch, New Zealand, who was also forced to quit after being well up in the race.

Only with the elimination of Miss Jokers—Wagland, Barnswell, Munro, Youson, Sweeney, McKenzie, Banks, Richard and De Costa. Royals—Montesi, Robertson, C. Chapman, Johnston, Turner, Duncan, Dowell, White and Mor.

JOKERS DOWN SWIM ROYALS IN FINAL, 7-6

Win Lower Island Softball Title Before Record Crowd—Error Is Costly

SWEENEY CONNECTS WITH BASES FULL

Featured by a long circuit drive from the bat of Ivan Sweeney, slugging outfielder, with the bases loaded in the first inning and nobody out, Jokers overcame through to a 7-6 victory over Royals to capture the Lower Island softball championship last night at Central Park before the largest crowd in the history of the game in this city. By their win, the winners will travel up-Island tomorrow to battle Shawanigan Lake in the third of a three-game series for the Island title and the right to meet the Vancouver champions for the provincial honors.

Although Sweeney's homer had a lot to do with the Jokers' victory, it was a costly misplay of a fly ball by Dan Dowell, Royals' outfielder, in the sixth, which permitted the tying and winning runs to cross the plate. It was a tough break for the city leaguers for they were holding one-run advantage at the time and two men were out.

TAKE BIG LEAD
Chuck Turner started on the hill for the Royals but failed to get going and went to the showers after Sweeney had cleared the bases and McKenzie had doubled with nobody out in the first. Eric Mor, who turned back the Jokers the night before, replaced him, and held the Jokers in check. Louie de Costa went the distance for the winners. He started off in a shaky manner, the Royals getting to him for six runs in the first two frames to hold the lead until the "breaks" settled the fixture in the sixth.

Mor turned in another fine performance after relieving Turner in the first, allowing the Jokers three hits in the remaining seven innings. Teams follow:
Jokers—Wagland, Barnswell, Munro, Youson, Sweeney, McKenzie, Banks, Richard and De Costa.
Royals—Montesi, Robertson, C. Chapman, Johnston, Turner, Duncan, Dowell, White and Mor.

Box Lacrosse Billed Tonight at Horse Show Building
VICTORIANS will get their first glimpse of box lacrosse this evening, at the Willows, when the local all-star squad clashes with the Vancouver Bluebirds, Mainland titleholders, in the first of a two-game series for the senior "B" British Columbia championship in the Horse Show Building, at 8:30 o'clock. Ed "Cotton" Brynjolfsson, former local star, will referee. The local team has been training hard for the series, and hopes to bring the provincial title to the Capital City. Victoria will line up as follows: Noel, Popham, Rickinson, Scaife, C. Chapman, Taylor, Brown, Williams, Caddell, Plater and Nicol.

GREEN MILL WINS SECOND STRAIGHT FROM ELKS

Stickney's Circuit Drive in 7th Frame Feature of Victory

Long Blow to Deep Right Field Highlight of Cafe-men's 6-1 Decision Over Antlered Tribe in Preliminary Series in Senior Baseball League—Third Fixture Is Carded for Today

Driving in runs at every opportunity, Green Mill moved a notch closer towards entering the final play-offs in the Senior Amateur Baseball League last night at the Royal Athletic Park when they took the Elks into camp for the second consecutive time in the preliminary series by a 6-1 score. This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in the same enclosure, the same two nines will meet in the third of the scheduled five-game series. Victory for the cafe squad will put them in the final series with the Sons of Canada, while a verdict for the Elks will prolong the play-offs.

Leo Holden, right-handed ace, again went to the mound for Green Mill and pitched good ball in the pinches. He struck out eight and issued four walks. Doc Webster did the hurling for the antlered herd. He was hit hard in the pinches, being nipped for eight safeties, the majority of which accounted for runs. Webster fanned one and gave two free tickets.

Green Mill's victory was featured by a long circuit drive inside the park by Wes Stickney in the seventh inning. The blow was the longest to deep right field this season and the feet-footed left-fielder had crossed the plate long before the ball was relayed in to Bowden.

During the first three innings, Elks had men on bases but their hitters failed to come through in the pinches. In the second Bowden was injured by a foul tip from the bat of Bert Nex and the game was halted for several minutes. Claude Belcher made a fine spear of Dunc's fast grounder in the second for a great piece of individual work, while Norm McConnell speared Nex's rifle drive to second for another fine play.

The cafe nine scored in the third for the first run of the game. Esler got a life on McKenzie's error and stole second. Bowden throwing wild to McConnell, Steele fanned. Love grounded to Morgan, who fumbled, and recovered in time to pick the runner off first by inches. By this time Esler had circled third and was going into the plate. Belcher threw to Bowden but Esler slid under him and was called safe. It was a close play.

In the fourth Green Mill increased their lead. Brouseau popped a Texas leaguer over short. Holden sacrificed him to second. Bridgwood hit a high fly between second and first and then Steve Dunc brought both runners home with a sharp single to centerfield. Love's single, a stolen base and another hit by Stickney gave the winners another rally in the fifth, while Esler's long fly to centerfield sent Bridgwood home in the sixth with another.

Elks scored their lone run in the seventh. McKenzie gained a walk, stole second and raced all the way home on Belcher's long single to center. Stickney, second man up in the last of the same canto, received a fine hand for his long homer to right. The game was called at the end of the frame.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
Lasting Heat—During my stay in Catania, Sicily, I made the ascent of Mount Etna, where, in the so-called desert region of the slope, I was shown the stream of lava about one-third of a mile wide which spung out of Mount Etna during the eruption of 1908-09. In spite of the elapsed interval of twenty-four years, the lava is still hot, as I convinced myself by a personal test.

An Increase in Value of 1,240,000 Per Cent—The wire of a hair spring which is about a foot long, weighs only one-fiftieth thousandth of a pound. At this rate a pound of steel wire, costing about $3, will be worth about $2,480,000 by dint of its conversion into watch springs through human ingenuity.

Formidable Field Will Face Starter In City Golf Meet

Close to Sixty to Seek Crown at Oak Bay Links Tomorrow—Morrison Not Entered—"B" Class Tourney at Gorge Vale—Draws Announced

With all the local clubs well represented, close to sixty of the best amateur golfers in the city will tee off in the thirty-six-hole qualifying round of the city championship tomorrow morning at the Victoria Golf Club. When the entry list closed yesterday with Secretary J. V. Perks, of the Oak Bay Club, it was announced that Bob Morrison, Upland Club, present titleholder, would not be on deck to defend the crown he won twelve months ago from a powerful field over his home course. While the low handicappers are seeking the laurels vacated by Morrison, a field of twenty golfers with 18 and over handicaps will be teeing off in the "B" class city championship at the Gorge Vale links.

MORRISON OUT
With Morrison out of the tournament, there is expected to be a great fight for his crown. Quality and quantity will face the starter, and some low scoring is expected in the bid for the medal honors at Oak Bay. Harold Lineham, last year's runner-up, is entered from Macaulay Point Club, and should be a big threat, while such well-known campaigners as Norm Wallace, Jimmy Todd, Art Beasley, Ken Lawson (junior city champion), Alex. Watson, Alan Taylor, Filmer Morgan, and numerous others are entered.

Draw and starting times at Oak Bay follow:
9:00—A. C. Falk and F. Morgan.
9:05—J. H. Lee and W. B. Barrett.
9:10—J. F. Dick and W. S. Morris.

Junior Olympiad to Be Held on Monday

Many Stars Will Compete at Vancouver—Chuck Cunningham Will Be Starter in 880-Yard Event—Joe Addison Will Run in 100-Yard Race

VANCOUVER, Aug. 26 (CP).—Nine international athletic stars, including two of Canada's feminine sprint team at the Los Angeles Olympics, will compete here Monday, in six events, at Vancouver's post-Olympic sports programme. Linked with the demonstrations by the big time stars will be a junior Olympiad that will bring into action 200 teenage track and field athletes from a score of points in British Columbia.

Four of the international stars hail from the United States, while the other five are Canadians. Alex. Wilson, Montreal's crack half-mile runner, will be seen in action against Eddie Genuis, American star, with a Vancouver youth, Harold Odium, and a lad from Victoria, Charles Cunningham, making up the quartette for the 880-yard event.

Harold Wright, Edmonton sprinter, who went to Los Angeles and decided to remain in Vancouver to make his home instead of going back to the Alberta Capital, will participate in the 100-yard dash against a group of British Columbia dashmen. Joe Billa, California college star, will compete in the 120-yard hurdles.

Dunc McNaughton, who carried off the Olympic high jump title for Canada, will show his ability before his home-town supporters in exhibition jumps against other Vancouver products. Bill Miller and William Graber, both American pole-vault stars, with Olympic honors, will give an exhibition of their specialty.

MARY FRIZZELLI TO APPEAR
A feature will be made of the women's exhibition 100-yard dash that will bring into action two of Vancouver's competitors at the Olympics, Lillian Palmer and Mary Frizzelli.

Joe Haley, of Trail, is expected to be McNaughton's biggest competitor in the high jump exhibition. The youth from the British Columbia Interior has been training hard for the event, and will do his best to make the Olympic champion do some high stepping.

The highlights of the Junior Olympiad are expected to be the 100-yard and the 440-yard events. The hundred is expected to bring a close battle when Vincent Forbes matches strides with Stan Barrett, of Vancouver; Allen Poole, of Kelowna, and another Vancouver youth, Howard McPhee, Marshall Limon, Vancouver's great sixteen-year-old 440-yard youth, who is believed to be the greatest junior quarter-mile on the coast, may find his master in Joe Addison, of Victoria, who has run the distance in time almost equal to Limon's.

The junior events will open Saturday, and about 100 of the youngsters are expected to survive for the finals on Monday.

Bucs Blank Phillies
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26.—Pittsburgh Pirates turned on the Phillies today and with Leon Chagnon hurling brilliant ball, shut the slugging Quakers out, 8 to 0.

Chagnon scattered the visitors' seven hits, while the Bucs gathered twelve hits off Collins and Liaka, six of them for extra bases.

Dean Trims Giants
ST. LOUIS, Aug. 26.—"Dizzy" Dean, who beat New York Giants with five hits Wednesday, came back and did it again today, and the Cardinals won the series final, 4 to 2.

The only runs off Dean were homers by Carl Hubbell and Mel Ott, the latter hitting his twenty-eighth of the season. R. H. E.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—For the second day in succession the Yankees took the home-run route to a victory over Cleveland Indians, winning 4 to 2 today, with "Babe" Ruth and Gehrig providing the winning wallops.

Three of the four Yankee runs came from circuit swats by their "home-run twins," but Johnny Allen, former Toronto hurler, also was an important figure in the victory.

Allen gave up only four hits and struck out six as he outpitched Wesley Ferrell in the tight duel. He won his eighth straight victory and his fourteenth of the season. He has only lost two decisions.

Ruth's four-ply drive was his thirty-seventh of the season, while Gehrig boosted his mark to twenty-nine. R. H. E.
Cleveland 2 4 1
New York 4 8 3
Batteries: Ferrell and L. Sewell; Allen and Dickey.

A's Rally to Win
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—An exciting ninth-inning finish today gave "Lefty" Grove his twentieth victory of the season. Athletics nonpareil at St. Louis Browns, 5 to 4, Simmons' single to deep short, with Cochrane on third and two out, won the game after the Browns had tied it at 4-to-4 in their half of the ninth.

Grove contributed heavily to the win when his fourth home run of the season, and his second in five days, accounted for two runs in the second inning. Jimmy Fox hit his forty-seventh homer and Al Simmons his twenty-eighth. R. H. E.

Free-Hitting Game
BOSTON, Aug. 26.—The Red Sox took a free-hitting game from the White Sox, 11 to 8, today to gain a two-to-one edge in their four-game series.

Charlie Berry, Chicago catcher, had a perfect day at bat with a walk, single, two doubles and a homer. R. H. E.

NANAIMO TOURBALL
NANAIMO, Aug. 26.—Coming from behind in a seventh-inning rally, Galahads, rambling knights of local softball, scored four runs in that frame and took the series and the Canadian Industries Cup from the N.U.W.A. by the score of 6-4 last evening.

Immediately after the game, Bob Davidson presented the cup to Peter Inkster, captain of the Galahads, complimenting the team on its performance.

"Well, he made some kind of a noise, but I don't think it sounded like 'daddy'."

THAT WORD "NERVE-RACKING"

We have an inquiry as to the term "nerve-racking," which our reader spells "nerve-racking," not the correct spelling, as will be proved by the story of its origin. We have this term from the rack which was the well known mediaeval instrument of torture taking its name from the Danish "ræken," to stretch. This engine of torture consisted of a large frame upon which the body was gradually stretched until, sometimes, the joints were dislocated. Hence to be racked was to be tortured, and "nerve-racking" needs no further explanation.
